

Contact: Rachel Samuelian
rachels@islandwood.org
206-755-4353

IslandWood Appoints Humphreys Munai as Chief Finance & Operations Officer

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND, WA (March 1, 2020) – Humphreys Munai has been named Chief Finance & Operations Officer for IslandWood. He officially joined the environmental education nonprofit on February 24th, 2020.

“Our national search resulted in 200 applicants from all over the country,” said Megan Karch, IslandWood’s CEO. “Humphreys’ candidacy quickly rose to the top due to his financial acumen, deep knowledge in people centered organizational systems, and his strong commitment to both the environment and education. We couldn’t be more thrilled to have him joining our team.”

Most recently, Mr. Munai served as the Chief Operating Officer at 350.org, an international organization focused on climate change. Prior to his role at 350.org, he was the Director of Global Finance Operations (Africa) at Heifer International and International Finance and Operations Coordinator at World Neighbors.

Mr. Munai holds his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Mid-America Christian University, and his Master of Business Administration from Oklahoma Christian University.

“I love IslandWood’s holistic approach of creating experiences for the next generation of environmental problem solvers,” said Mr. Munai. “I believe that it’s a game changer for sustainable solutions and I am honored to be part of it.”

Mr. Munai and his family are relocating from Atlanta, GA.

About IslandWood

Through our experiential environmental education programs for 3rd – 8th graders, teacher professional development series, graduate program, and public policy advocacy, IslandWood is inspiring the next generation of environmental stewards and problem solvers. Programs take place on our 250-acre campus on Bainbridge Island, at the Brightwater Treatment Plant in Woodinville, and in Seattle classrooms, schoolyards and public parks. IslandWood impacts over 20,000 students and educators each year. Learn more at www.islandwood.org.