#AskDrDé: Representation and Anti-Bias in Children's Books

Check out our recent interview with Director of Campus Education Déana Scipio to learn why she believes that children's books have such power to fight oppression, how she helps IslandWood's graduate students incorporate children's books into their teaching, and how parents can use these books to explore complicated topics with their children.

"HOW DO YOU MAKE SURE THAT YOUR KIDS SEE LOTS OF DIFFERENT FACES AND LOTS OF DIFFERENT EXPERIENCES AND LOTS OF DIFFERENT WAYS OF BEING IN THE WORLD?"

We have just a handful of tickets left for our upcoming Valentine's-themed edition of Dine & Discover, so be sure to register now! Featuring live music, a delicious meal, and an optional "What's Love Got to Do With It" talk from staff naturalist Christina Doherty, this event is not to be missed. If you can't make it this time, mark your calendar for our next dinner in the series, coming up on March 29th!

Join us for Dinner in the Woods 2020

From the woods of Bainbridge Island, to the schoolyards of Seattle, to the halls of the State Capitol building, we're working across the region to create environmental change. Students and teachers leave our programs knowing they have the power to solve environmental issues and make a positive impact on the planet, today. Join us at Magnuson Park on May 9 for our annual fundraiser to celebrate the successes of the past year and to support the work we still have ahead.
