During National Make-A-Will Month, protect the people and causes you care about.

Learn more about hosting your meeting or retreat at IslandWood here.

To ensure delivery to your inbox (and not to your spam or junk folders), please add our email address to your address list.

Copyright © 2022 IslandWood. 4450 Blakely Ave NE, Bainbridge Island, WA, 98110. All rights reserved.

Manage Email Preferences

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We kicked off our Localizing Amplify Science Working Group at IslandWood to begin a year-long collaboration to enhance the nationwide K–8 science curriculum, Amplify Science, with regional perspective.

Localizing Amplify Science Working Group

We kicked off our Localizing Amplify Science Working Group at IslandWood to begin a year-long collaboration to enhance the nationwide K–8 science curriculum, Amplify Science, with regional perspective.

Learn more at IslandWood, the Bainbridge Island campus of environmental education in the Pacific Northwest. Read the article in Events Magazine's article about "stunning settings for meetings and retreats in the Pacific Northwest."

IslandWood was included in the Summer 2022 issue of Northwest Meetings & Events Magazine. Learn more and register here.

Learn more and register here.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.

We often hear from folks that they wish they could experience IslandWood like the kids do. And we thought - well, let's do it! Learn more about the fun we're planning for our first-ever Community Camp.

There is so much to do at IslandWood to make your meeting or retreat a truly memorable experience. We have accommodations for up to 75 guests, as well as a wide range of facilities and activities to choose from. And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Interested in joining our idealistic, collaborative, and purpose-driven team? Do you know someone who might be? We currently have several positions open in our education, events, facilities, housekeeping, food & beverage, and operations departments.

And don't forget the best part. The revenue from your meeting or retreat helps make environmental education programming financially possible for over 25,000 children in our region each year!

Are you looking for a way to engage your students in localized, relevant, and fun science learning? Our free day programs are designed to support schools and teachers, reinforce student learning that happens in both formal and informal science settings, broaden the idea of “environment” to include urban systems, and emphasize human impacts on ecosystems.